IGNiTE DIGITAL LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

SPEAKERS

Get ready to hear from executives, entrepreneurs, and social media influencers who have built thriving businesses and brands through the power of digital strategy.

Michelle Raue

Michelle Raue is a 35 year veteran of the property & casualty industry. She has led claim organizations with various carriers, spearheading enterprise-wide transformation projects. Her experience also includes building Lyft's in-house claim organization from the ground up. She is known for disrupting legacy mindsets and delivering customer-focused solutions at scale. On LinkedIn, she blends sharp industry insights with candid, relatable stories that both engage and entertain her audience.

Curtis Goldsborough

Curtis Goldsborough is an insurance and insurtech leader known for blending deep industry expertise with cutting-edge digital strategy. A sought-after speaker and content creator, he helps professionals navigate market disruption, embrace innovation, and strengthen their personal brands. Curtis inspires audiences to lead with confidence in a rapidly changing industry.

Ema Roloff

Ema Roloff is the Co-Founder and Chief Growth Officer at Roloff Consulting and a recognized digital transformation expert. With a background in education and over a decade of experience, she helps leaders embrace modern strategies to drive growth, build influence, and connect in a digital-first world. Host of Leading Change and winner of AI Journal's Young Tech Leader of the Year, Ema is a trusted voice on adapting to how people buy, sell, and lead today.

Ian McCain

Ian McCain is committed to transforming how leaders and teams navigate change. As Vice President of Datum Evolve, he draws on nearly 15 years of digital transformation expertise and the quick-thinking world of improv comedy to create training that sticks. An award-winning filmmaker, published author, and regular mainstage performer, Ian blends business strategy with the spontaneity of improv to show how the simple rule of Yes, And can spark collaboration, innovation, and help teams "get comfortable with being uncomfortable."

Eric Kimberling

Eric Kimberling is the founder and CEO of Third Stage Consulting Group, a global firm that helps organizations achieve digital transformation success. With over 20 years of experience, he is an expert in enterprise software selection, implementation, and organizational change management. A sought-after speaker and author, Eric shares insights on transformation trends, challenges, and best practices through his blog, podcast, and other media channels.

Phillip Morris

Phillip Morris, known as the voice of experience (and the ultimate hype man), a leader with over 20 years of leadership experience, known for driving growth, scaling businesses, and developing high-performance teams across the insurance, insurtech, and services sectors. A bold and strategic leader, Phillip blends a people-first leadership strategy to unlock sustainable value and lead enterprise-wide growth and transformation. From scaling startups, driving SMBs to over $500M or guiding companies into new markets, he is known for turning vision into execution—and culture into competitive advantage.

Paige Lord

Paige Lord is a seasoned Product Marketing Manager at GitHub, specializing in responsible AI and AI governance. With over a decade of experience in technology—including previous roles at Microsoft—Paige is widely recognized for her expertise in AI ethics, product strategy, and policy. She holds a master's degree from Harvard, focusing on AI and privacy law, and has been featured in Wired Magazine and Queen City News for her insights on AI in society. Paige is also the founder of Just AI, a consulting business dedicated to advancing responsible AI, digital literacy, and human-centered technology by providing trusted, accessible information to thousands worldwide.

John Lindsey

John is the President of inCite LegalTech and inCite Logix, where he leads the development of AI and digital transformation solutions for industries including legal, biotech, oil & gas, and healthcare. With 34 years of experience building and leading technology companies, he has founded and invested in numerous startups. Based in Wilmington, NC, John is also known for his tech parody songs, which entertain thousands while educating industries on the power of leveraging technology as a competitive advantage.